Of my futurity. I do not fear to meet the worst The gathering years can give; My life has been a life accurst From youth, and yet I live; The future may be overcast,

But never darker than the past! My mind will grow as years depart With all the winged hours: And all my buried seeds of Art Will bloom again in flowers; But buried hopes no more will bloom, As in the days of old :

My youth is lying in its tomb, My heart is dead and cold ; And certain sad, but nameless cares, Have fleeked my locks with silver hairs!

No bitterfeeling clouds my grief, No angry thoughts of thee : For thou art now a faded leaf Upon a fading tree. From day to day I see thee sink, From deep to deep in shame ; I sigh but dare not bid thee think Upon thine ancient fame ; For, oh! the thought of what thou art, Must be a hell within thy heart! My life is full of care and pain-My heart of old desires : But living embers yet remain Below in dying fires; Nor do I fear what all the years May have in store for me-For I have washed away with tears The blots of memory ; But thou-despite the love on high-What is there left thee, but to die !

THE COTTON CROP.

A writer in the Mobile Tribune furnishes that paper with an estimate of the probable amount of the cotton crop. He estimates the whole receipts at between 3,500,000 and 3,600,000 bales. He argues that notwithstanding the immense increase in the present crop of cotton, there is very slight reason. indeed, for producers to anticipate a great decrease in prices. On the contrary, he is of the opinion that a little firmness on the part of holders would. in a short time, reinstate the market at or about for-

The writer states that he is neither a producer of, nor a dealer in, cotton, and has no interest in the measures that producers or dealers may think proper to pursue-the one to enhance and the other to depress prices. He bases his opinion on the following grounds:

"First, that the last crop or year's supply of near 1,800,000 bales from the United States, with about bales is taken from the stock on hand twelve months since, and orders are now on hand in the great thread and cloth manufactories that will employ them for weeks, to come. Second, the growth of cotton consumption is steadily and rapidly increasing on the continent of Europe. Third, the vast influx of population and high prices of labor in California, Australia, and some other places, will make of them no inconsiderable markets. Fourth, the peaceful adoption and settlement of the empire in France—the settlement of our Cuba question and the general peaceful aspect of the world. Fifth, the great quantity of capital in England seeking employment; and sixth, the vast supply of the precious metals, especially gold, that must for some time to come enter into the avenues of commerce, and supply the wants of trade and remunerate labor -all combine to point out without doubt, I think a fair price for cotton for some years to come, and I think it only requires of holders a little patience and firmness to test the proposition successfully."

Of course speculation as to prices is vain, but we deem it proper to lay before our readers the opinions of those who appear to take an interest in the Washington, Dec. 25.-The negotiations between the Secretary of State and the British Minister, Mr. Crampton, are proceeding with due activity. What the precise arrangements are, it is of course, not easy to learn; but is known that Mr. Crampton is now waiting for further instructions in order to finish the affair. It is understood that not only has the subject of the fisheries been discussed and reciprocity with the provinces adverted to, but the Hudson Bay Company have managed, also, to lay in their claim for certain possessive rights in Oregon. The latter business, it will be remembered. was tried on during the close of President Polk's administration, and the beginning of that of Gen. Taylor's, but unsuccessfully, notwithstanding the the ingenious lobbying which was brought to bear. Several millions were then demanded for these possessive rights; but as the Hudson Bay peoples could not show that their property was worth as many thousands, the idea was at that time abandoned in disgust. It is now to be tacked to the DISTRESSING .- Three Children Drowned .- We learn that three children, two boys and a girl, of Mr. Bullington, were drowned in Chestua creek, near Newman's Mill, McMinn county, on Saturday last. They attempted to cross the creek, which was so much swollen by the late rains, on a foot-log, and it is supposed slipped off. The body of the girl, who was 15 years of age, was taken from the water in a few vinutes, by Mr. Newman, but too late to save her life. One of the bodies had not been recovered up to Wednesday evening, the time when we last heard from the scene of the distressing accident.-Athens Post.

"A Good Hir."-It is quite common to hear of good hit made by some favorite of fortune, an actor, or a danseuse, but the manner in which one of the corps of ballet dancers at the National theatre in Washington made a hit the other evening was at once novel and amusing. The Washington correspondent of the Charleston News, in his letter of the 10th inst., thus describes the occurrence:

Speaking of dancing reminds me of a good hit made last night at the theatre by one of the corps of French and Spanish ballet dancers there exhibiting. It may reasonably be presumed that these artists do not dance with great coats on! An impudent fellow, sitting near the footlights of the stage was particularly engaged in spying the lady through a double-barrel opera glass. This seemed to annoy | ron. her; so, as soon as she spun and flew to tha of the house, she suddenly and gracefully kicked the glass from the white-kidded hands of the exquisite This feat immediately attracted general admiration and the danseuse went off with deafening yells of applause, while the young gentleman was glad to make his escape.

The following "items" were furnished to the Evansville Journal, by "Mose," its Cairo (Ill.,) correspondent:

Amos Worthington, of Cairo, is dead! He was an unpretending man, lived unostentaciously, and supplied the people with fish. His last words were characteristic: "I say, Pritchard, I'm going to 'peg' right off. I've flirted my last fish; but bury my tackle with me—who knows but they'll bite in Jortion made by a clever correspondent a short time since: that each subscriber to the Nashville Union furnish an additional one for the present year? The suggestion has been partially acted upon already, and we have to thank several friends for addition to our lists during the past week. We hope that the other subscribers to the Union will not let the suggestion pass by unheeded. Gentlemen, it will require but the slightest effort on your part, while the general result will be of great benefit to us. May we ask of you, then, that slight effort?

THE VICE PRESIDENCY. Whig editors-who are all second Websters, and famous for expounding the constitution-have sprung another constitutional question, for the especial benefit of the whig party. The present delicate health of Mr. King has somewhat alarmed (!) to unprecedented. Let all concerned look to the these gentlemen, lest the office of Vice President should become vacant before the votes are counted by Congress, and they have been searching-not the scriptures, but the constitution-for some provision for such a contingency. They have found one in the following clause of article XII of amendments to the constitution: "The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President shall be Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of elec-tors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list the Senate shall chose the Vice President. A quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice, &c."

We give whig editors credit for seeing a little further into mill-stones than other people; but we cannot believe they really see in this clause what they assert they do. They contend that in case of Mr. King's death before the votes are counted, this clause requires the Senate to choose Mr. Graham as Vice President! The idea is particalarly absurd, and must be as unpalatable as absurd to the sovereigns who have rejected Mr. Graham by a majority of over two hundred thousand votes! No man but a whig editor could have started such an idea. and even a whig editor must have had a most trying time in bringing it forth. We will not however, debate this matter with our whig friends now. Their eagerness for spoils has made them indelicate as well as indiscreet. They should wait until a man dies before they divide his inheritance. Such delay would not lesson their final chances, while it would give them the reputation of having a little of "the humanity" as well as "all the decency." These hungry gentlemen should "assume a virtue, if they have it not."

When no canvass is pending, party papers may the usual quantity, or a little over, from other very well afford to devote some time and space to reueral news, improvements, arts, sciences literature, agriculture, and miscellany .- Banner.

Now, this is just what we have thought all along We have even went farther, and advised our neigh bor of the Banner to betake himself exclusively to rural pursuits. We still think that he would be great deal more successful in raising cabbages, than in meddling with politics, or trying to combat our "wild constitutional theories."

gentlemen who give them currency. The article in the New Hampshire Patriot is believed here to be semi-official, by the leading members of the democratic party, and the appointment of all the gentlemen above named is deemed per-feetly consistent with it. The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune writes as follows, under date of the 27th Gov. Brown, of Miss., states that a dispatch just received from Concord gives Hunter, of Va., the Department of State, Slidell, of La., the Treasury, Dix, of New York, the War, Johnson, of Ark., the Navy, Bright, of Ind., the Interior, Medary, of Ohio, the Post Office, and Nicholson, of Tenn., the

THE BANNER STATE-TEXAS.-Returns have been received from eighty counties in this State. The vote is small-especially that for Gen. Scott. It foots up thus: For Pierce and King, thirteen thousand five hundred and thirty; for Scott and Graham, four thousand nine hundred and eighty-eight. Democratic majority, eight thousand five hundred and forty-two. The remaining counties to hear from officially, have given overwhelming majorities for the Democrats. In one of these Scott received but two votes. The State has given Pierce and Kiny a majority twice as large as Scott's whole vote, and is unquestionably the bauner State of the

It is further announced that it necessary reinforcements to keep the prize he has secured; and there is not the slightest doubt among the French residents of the island, that the ground taken by Napoleon will be defended by the whole force of the empire. This is most important information. It confirms the previous accounts of French usurpation, and is a distinct avowal of the new continental policy of the European powers on this continent, and in the Gulf of Mexico, of which our government is bound to take notice, and act accordingly. The people are now far in advance of the administration, and as soon as the French occupation of Samana is made positively certain their indignation will be aroused to a pitch hithermatter with courage and firms is, for there is an

THE NEXT CONGRESS.—The result of Congress ional elections in sixteen States, as follows:

Present Congress, New Congress Democrats 79

The remaining States are represented in the resent Congress by 31 Whigs and 63 Democrats. If the proportion should be the same in the new Congress, the House would comprise 80 Whigs, 4 Abolitionists, and 150 Democrats. Democratic majority in the House over Whigs, 70; over Whigs and Abolitionists, 66; which is sufficient for all "practical purposes."

SENATE.—The number of Democrats already elected to the new Senate, or holding over from former years, is 28, Whigs do, 19. Vacancies to be filled by Legislatures, Democratic in both Houses 9; Whig do, 1. Vacancies more or less doubtful as to the result, 5. Leaving these last out of the account, the Senate will comprise 37 Democrats | rived, lost 16 of their number by fever. and 20 Whigs. Democratic majority 17.

A young lady in this State, says the Cincinnati Commercial of the 29th inst., remarkable for her personal charms, married a man by the name of Glass not long since, merely through a predeliction for his name. Her mirror had so often flat tered her, that she deemed, no doubt, she would be returning the compliment if she took for her husband a gentleman who bore the same title. Don't ask after this, "What's in a name."

RETRIBUTION .- The Petersburg (Va.) Intelligencer, noticing the accession of Louis Napoleon to the throne of the French Empire, takes occasion to observe that the great Emperor himself, who divorced Josephine because she bore him no children, would have some strange feelings could he rise from the dead and see his throne filled by the grandson of the divorced wife, whilst his own son, by his second marriage, sleeps far from France, in the tomb of the Hapsburgs. This reflection is indeed singular, and it proves that "there is a divinity which shapes our ends, rough hew them as we may."

A DEMOGRATIC STATE. - There are ninety counties in Texas, every one of which, at the last election, gave a majority for Franklin Pierce for President In three of the counties General Scott did not get a single vote, and fourteen of them gave him less than ten votes each.

WEALTH OF THE UNITED STATES.—The aggregate wealth of the United States amounts to $12,000. 000,000, and the population is 24,000,000 of souls. The wealth, divided by the population, gives $500 to each person, young and old; and, counting five persons to each family, it would give the handsome little fortune of $2,500 to every family of the Republic, not excluding the slaves.

The eldest son of Queen Victoria, who i now, we suppose, thirteen or fourteen years old begins, it is said, to exhibit military talent, and has at once received an appointment as general or major general, and an addition of some half a million of dollars attached to his salaries. There were two dead fe nale children taken from the wreck-one upposed to be ten or twelve years of age, with auourn or "yellow" hair about eighteen or twenty inches in length; and the other, about four or five years of age. No marks were found about them to listinguish them, but they were evidently sisters, from the fact that they were clinging to each other, and from the strong resemblance they bore to each other. Their bodies were taken charge of by Mr. Burdlette who had them decentiy buried. Many trunks, boxes and other things were removed by the wreckers. One trunk had in it some six or seven hundred dollars, which was divided by a man named Christian, living opposite Milliken's Bend, among the eleven white men and the negro who landed the wreck.
